

A Day in the Life of a ...

Introduction

What attention-getting strategy should I use to introduce myself?

An in-action description as I fall through the air because my owner dropped me.

Describe the slow motion actions of me spinning toward ground, owner reaching for me without success, and then me hitting the ground with a harsh crash.

End by introducing the name of the owner that causes this type of trouble every day for me.

Body

Event that occurs during day	Interesting way to describe event
Morning: Thrown into Megan's school bag	Describe the pain it caused me to be thrown in. Describe who I am in bag with, and how I don't get along with them.
Afternoon: Coffee spilled on me	Describe burning sensation of coffee and why Megan was so rushed that she spilled it.
Evening: Overworked	Describe how many word documents, etc. were opened and how hard it was to press my keys all night.

Conclusion

How will I bring the story to a close and wrap up my day?

At night, set on table with other objects- mention funny remarks that other objects make while talking to each other. Explain that life could be worse as a sock or broom, but I wish Megan would be more careful! Say goodbye by saying that Megan is finally going to press "Shut Down" and let me sleep.